

Kazakhstan canceled the requirement to have a PCR test when crossing the border

Citizens of Russia from June 8, 2022 do not need to provide the results of a PCR test or a certificate of vaccination against coronavirus when entering Kazakhstan

From June 8, the authorities of Kazakhstan canceled the requirement to have a PCR test or a certificate of vaccination against coronavirus when crossing the state border, as reported by the press service of the government of Kazakhstan. This decision was made against the background of the stabilization of the epidemiological situation in the country and in the world.

Kazakhstan will also open 12 previously temporarily closed automobile border checkpoints.

We also remind you that from March 30, 22, Russia lifted all restrictions on movement across the state border with Kazakhstan and Mongolia.
